About Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macau Greater Bay Area

Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macau Greater Bay Area in southern China covers the country's most open and economically vibrant region. It consists of 9 cities and 2 special administrative regions in south China. In 2017, it added US$1.5 trillion (HK$11.77 trillion) to the Chinese economy, accounting for 12 percent of the national GDP despite only representing less than 1% of the country's total land area and less than 5% of the total population.

The Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macau Greater Bay Area has a unique advantage in which cities in the area are inter-complementary and can form a complete and integrated industrial chain for technological innovation.

China aims to develop a world-class airport cluster in the Greater Bay Area. Existing airports will expand to increase their capacities and transport links are also to be improved. The volume of air freight traffic in the Greater Bay Area was 7.96 million tonnes in 2017, greater than the combined volume of San Francisco, New York and Tokyo.

Some of the world's busiest container harbours are in Greater Bay Area, with Shenzhen, Guangzhou and Hong Kong ranked in the world's top 10 container ports.

Location of Shenzhen World Exhibition & Convention Center

Shenzhen World Exhibition & Convention Center is located in Shenzhen Airport New Town, which lies at the top of the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macau Greater Bay Area and in the center of the Pearl River Delta and Guangdong Free Trade Zone.

Shenzhen World will reach 500,000m² of indoor exhibition space once Phase 2 is complete, becoming the largest exhibition venue in the world. Phase 1 covers an area of 1.21 millionm² with a gross floor area of 1.6 millionm², delivering 400,000m² of purpose-built and flexible exhibition and event space.

The venue is designed with an organizing spine to connect 19 halls arranged symmetrically along a central corridor. The venue features two main registration lobbies directly connected to the subway, two VIP entrances to the west, plus the grand South Entrance. The two-level central corridor moves visitors efficiently from North to South with the use of people movers and travellers.

Shenzhen World features state-of-the art exhibition complex integrating exhibition, conference, activity (competition, entertainment), catering, shopping, office and service.

The dual-level underground parking lot provides 9,500 parking spaces for private cars, with 300 VIP parking spaces and 1,000 for trucks above ground. The dedicated truck marshaling area also boasts 1,500 parking spaces.
